

GIVE THAT OTHERS MAY LIVE

In Some Town Over There is a Baby
Who Can Live If You
Say the Word

By BRUCE BARTON.

I sometimes picture it to myself this way. Suppose that somewhere down town in New York, or in Chicago or St. Louis, there were a huge auction room, where the lives of men and of little children were on sale.

Suppose that every day the auctioneer's red flag hung out as a sign that on that day so many men were to be allowed to die; so many women; and so many little ones.

Allowed to die, just for the lack of a few dollars. Just for the want of the little sum that would ransom them.

Suppose that were the case, I say to myself; could I possibly stay away? Is there any argument I could give to myself that would keep me from going there day after day, and buying with all my power? Buying men and women and children, at that auctioneer's block, with the dollars that would mean life to them?

It's not a very pretty picture; yet compared to the pictures that I have seen from stricken Armenia and Syria, and all the empires of the Near East, it is almost beautiful.

For men and women and children are dying over there—dying for the lack of sums that seem pitifully, miserably small.

I am not rich, and I have all the little worries that are common to us middle class folks. Worries about next year's income tax; and about the future of business, and where my income will go to if such and such things take place.

But I have a worse worry than that. The worry for what my conscience will say to me, if in this hour of the world's tribulation I do not do my share.

The worry lest in my ears for the rest of my life there should be the cry of a man, or a woman, or a little child whose life I might have saved.

For they are crying over there today, stretching out their weak, tired arms. And it's a marvellous thought to me, that modest as my income is, it's big enough to let me save the life of one of them—big enough to give me a man, or a woman, or a child who will never cease to be thankful that I did my part.

They are waiting for our answer over there: yours and mine: A poor stricken man broken by the war; and a woman, weak from her struggle and terror; and a baby who can live and grow up into useful manhood or womanhood, if only you say the word.

EXTRA LONG WEAR FROM SHOES

T. D. Collins of Ocala, Hawaii, makes a remarkable statement which demonstrates the money-saving durability of Neolin Soles.

He writes, "After wearing a pair of Neolin-soled shoes off and on for thirty-three months, I wore them on a trip to the volcano of Kilauea and walked around the crater over hot lava six times and still the soles showed only slight signs of wear."

This experience is not accidental. It results from the scientific process by which Neolin Soles are made to be exactly what soles should be—comfortable, waterproof and exceedingly economical because of the long wear they give.

Get them on new shoes for all members of the family and have them put on worn shoes. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

Yes, I'll Say They Do---

People are learning that when a spring breaks, they don't need to "rest up" until "the springs get here from the factory." They're learning that the springs we turn out are better and cheaper, but the big thing is that THERE IS NO WAIT—Bring the car in with a broken spring—in a few hours out again, all "Jake." We got 2 expert spring men and they know their business—we're even getting orders by mail.

Not only springs—but all repair work is done by experts—That's the reason this garage is busy. I can keep it busy with your help.

ANNUAL SALE IS TO START TOMORROW AT SWITZER'S STYLE SHOP

Walter Switzer, of Switzer's Style Shop, returned to Phoenix on Monday from a three-weeks' trip to New York city and other market centers of the east on a buying expedition for his Phoenix and Flagstaff stores. Mr. Switzer reports that the strike of garment workers in New York is still unsettled, but adds that he found many manufacturers turning out about 75 per cent of normal production.

Switzer's Style Shop is closed today, but will reopen tomorrow for its annual sale.

"Our first sale of this kind," said Mr. Switzer, "was held just a year ago, and was so much of a success that this season I made the trip to New York market earlier than usual in order to obtain the co-operation of our regular manufacturers. I found them just as anxious as myself to inaugurate a record breaking three-day distribution of high grade garments in Phoenix. The fabrics, the linings and the tailoring they have put into the garments to be offered all prove their sincerity."

QUICK VERDICT LOSES SUIT FOR $15,000

That a Maricopa county jury will not award damages to a man whom it believes has not been injured, was demonstrated yesterday when a verdict for the defendant was returned in the $15,000 action brought by Frank Stevenson against the Arizona Eastern Railroad company.

The jury was out less than ten minutes, the first ballot resulting in 11 to 1 for judgment for the defendant, the next ballot making it unanimous for the company.

Stevenson claimed to have been injured in April when he fell against an excavation, the fall being caused by stubbing his toe. He was at that time employed by the Arizona Eastern, and time cards showed that he did not lose a day's work after the alleged injury for which he brought suit for $15,000. He continued in the employ of the company 3 months after he struck his toe, and left only when his wages were not raised at his request. He passed a physical examination before he went to work for the New Cornelia mine where he is now employed.

Stevenson was forced to submit to a severe cross examination by George Purdy Bullard during the course of the trial. Mr. Bullard showing where Stevenson drew accident insurance while at work for the company.

The plaintiff was represented by J. J. Cox, L. J. Cox and A. Y. Moore. The suit was tried in Judge Stanford's court.
